Early Journal Content on JSTOR, Free to Anyone in the World

This article is one of nearly 500,000 scholarly works digitized and made freely available to everyone in the world by JSTOR.

Known as the Early Journal Content, this set of works include research articles, news, letters, and other writings published in more than 200 of the oldest leading academic journals. The works date from the mid-seventeenth to the early twentieth centuries.

We encourage people to read and share the Early Journal Content openly and to tell others that this resource exists. People may post this content online or redistribute in any way for non-commercial purposes.

Read more about Early Journal Content at http://about.jstor.org/participate-jstor/individuals/early-journal-content.

JSTOR is a digital library of academic journals, books, and primary source objects. JSTOR helps people discover, use, and build upon a wide range of content through a powerful research and teaching platform, and preserves this content for future generations. JSTOR is part of ITHAKA, a not-for-profit organization that also includes Ithaka S+R and Portico. For more information about JSTOR, please contact support@jstor.org.

THE NORTH AMERICAN REVIEW.

VOL. CXX.

Tros Tyriusque mihi nullo discrimine agetur.

BOSTON:
JAMES R. OSGOOD AND COMPANY,
LATE TICKNOR & FIELDS, AND FIELDS, OSGOOD, & CO.
1875.

Copyright, 1875,
By JAMES R. OSGOOD & CO.

University Press: Welch, Bigelow, & Co.,
Cambridge.

INDEX

TO THE

HUNDRED AND TWENTIETH VOLUME

OF THE

North American Review.

Adams, Charles Francis, his Memoirs of John Quincy Adams, Vol. III., critical notice of, 231 - 235.

Anderson, R. B., his Historical Sketch of the Discovery of America by the Norsemen in the Tenth Century, critical notice of, 194 - 196.

Bancroft, George, his History of the United States, Vol. X., critical notice of, 424 - 432.

Cairnes, J. E., his Some Leading Principles of Political Economy newly expounded, critical notice of, 214 - 226.

Clarke, E. H., his The Building of a Brain, critical notice of, 185 - 188.

Comtism, article on, 237 - 281 — four possible foundations for a philosophical system, 237 — the essence of Comtism, 238 — no philosophic system at all, 239 — Comte's youth and education, 240 — his intellectual pedigree, 240 — Bacon, Hume, Diderot, and Gall, 241 — his association with St. Simon, and debt to him, 242 — his marriage and insanity, 243 — his professorship, why he lost it, 244 — helped by Englishmen at Mr. Mill's suggestion, 245 — pure and passionate friendship for Madame Clotilde de Vaux, 245 — inability to live with others, 246 — his intellect neat, tidy, narrow, 246 — his character, 246 — summary of his doctrine, — the three dogmas. 247 — Hierarchy of Beings, and of Sciences, 249 — Statical Law of the Understanding, 250 — Law of the Three Stages, 251 — Philosophy of the Unconscious, 252 — positive religion, 255 - 266 — faith and altruism, 255 — woman's place in the scheme 258 - 262 — positivist calendar, 262 — sacraments, 263 — hierarchy, 264 — Comte's political ideal, 266 - 271 — three classes of society. priesthood, patriciate, proletary. 266 — knighthood, 267 — no civic rights, 267 — no concealment, no anonymous writing, 268 — tremendous power of priesthood, 269 — thirty bankers and triumvirate, 269 — Comte's economic socialism, 270 — marriage, 271 — lack of unity in Comte's system, 272 — vast difference between facts of science and of human life, 272 - 275 — biology not a positive science, 276 - 278 — points of difference between Positivism and Comtism, 279 — Comte had no connection with German thought, 280.

Coulanges, Fustel de, his Political Institutions of France, critical notice of, 455 - 461.

Fiske, John, his Outlines of Cosmic Philosophy, critical notice of, 200 - 204.

Freytag, Gustav, his Die Ahnen, critical notice of, 444 - 452

Granger Movement, The, article on, 394 - 424 — people of the East have known it by its least creditable deeds, 395 — its surroundings, 396 — immense development of railroads in the West, between 1865 and 1870, 397 — began to produce discontent, 398 — real grievances caused by competition, 399 - 402 — and by bad manners, 402 - 404 — unsatisfactory condition in 1872, 404 — resolutions adopted by convention of Granges at Springfield, Ill., 405 — exasperated and unreasonable feeling, resulting in wild legislation, 406 — American confidence in the efficacy of a law, 407 — Western disregard for laws, views of Mr. Tufts, 409 — packing of benches, 411 — defeat of Chief-Justice Lawrence of Illinois, 412 — the corporations fell back on constitutional guaranties, 413 — fallacy of the Granger idea that the West was paying the railroads an inordinate profit, 414 — that these extortionate charges were made to pay dividends on fictitious cost of railroads, Mr. Springer's imaginative statements, 415 — facts relative to Illinois roads, 415 — Wisconsin, 416 — Minnesota, Iowa, and Kansas, 417 — Grangers apparently wish others to take the risk of loss on roads, while they retain excess of profit, 418 - 420 — conclusions from statistics, — that the railroads cost nominally too much, but not ultimately, 420 — people have gone too far west, 421 — there has been over-production at remote points, 421 — reduction of cost of carriage does not help the farmer, 422 — what the Granger movement has done, well or ill, 422 - 424.

Higginson, T. W., his Young Folks' History of the United States, critical notice of, 469 - 471

Howells, W. D., his A Foregone Conclusion, critical notice of, 207 - 214.

Hunt, Thomas Sterry, his Chemical and Geological Essays, critical notice of, 204 - 207.

Japan, The Recent Revolutions in, article on, 281 - 315 — true causes of late great changes in Japan, 281 — various distinct movements since Commodore Perry's visit, 282 — not inaugurated by foreigners, 283 — origin of Japanese, their government, civilization and religion, 284 — government of China adopted in seventh century, 285 — growth of a military class in eighth century, houses of Taira and Minamoto, 285 — Yoritomo and his usurpations as shōgun, 286 — myth of two emperors, 287 — the Hōjō family, 287 — daimios attain great power. 288 — Tokugawa Iyeyasŭ, the greatest character in Japanese history, 289 — rigorous and exclusive policy of his successors, 290 — its beneficent results during two hundred and seventy years of peace, 292 — fall of the shōguns, 292 — causes, 293 - 304 — Buddhist priests, 293 — historical works produced under Mito, and their teachings, 294 — foreigners from various points eagerly watched Japan, 295 — revival of Pure Shintō, 295 — Prince of Mito in 1840 attempted war, 296 — southern clans favored restoration of supreme, undivided power to the Mikado, 297 — the Prince of Satsuma, and his liberal plans, 297 - 299 — Commodore Perry's arrival, how the shōgun received his gifts and treated with him as Emperor of Japan, 299, 300 — death of Iyesada, Prince of Kishiu appointed shogun, 301 — indignation caused by the signing of treaties without the mikado's consent, 301 — slaughter of foreigners, 302 — fall of the bakufu, 302 - 304 — Hitotsŭbashi appointed, his resignation, 304 — the composition of the mikado's party, 306 — memorial to the mikado, and its important results, 308 — growth of newspapers, development of original literature, 310 — Fukuzawa and other authors, 310, 311 — overthrow of the feudal system, 312 — present condition of the nation and government, 313 — summary, 314.

Lie, Jonas, his The Pilot and his Wife, critical notice of, 471 - 474.

Maine, Sir H. S., his Early History of Institutions, critical notice of, 432 - 438.

Mill, J. S., his Three Essays on Religion, critical notice of, 461 - 469.

Municipal Government, An Episode in, article on, 119 - 174 — Hoffman governor, A. Oakey Hall mayor, 119 — Tweed chosen Grand Sachem of Tammany, "Hank" Smith appointed Police Commissioner, 120 — Mayor Hall's tactics, 121 — his message, 122 — distribution of advertising, 123 — manufacturing public opinion by appointing newspaper men to sinecure offices, 124 — Hall eager to be noticed by press, 125 — Gov. Hoffman's cordial reception at Albany, his policy and message, 126 — Tweed's arrogant supremacy, 127 — political aspirations, 128 — "the multiplied Tweed," 129 — his greed, 129 — high-handed rule of Board of Supervisors, 130 — street opening a rich source of plunder, 130 - 135 — worthless pavements, the "Fisk poultice," 135 — New York Printing Company, 136 — Court House, the most colossal swindle, 137 - 143 — the men who profited most by it, Garvey, Ingersoll, Keyser, 140 — Davidson, Hall, Miller, Smith, 141 — Garvey's statement how bills were made, 143 — "Jimmy" Watson and his functions, 144 - 146 — Woodward's part, 146 — city paid for work done for members of Ring, 147 — spoils of the "Market Ring," 148 — Ring efforts to gain control of Board of Education, 149 - 152 — Mr. Boese's resignation, 151 — Sweeny's pecuniary success as Chamberlain, 152 - 154 — leaders in the revolt against Tweed and the rest, 155 — James O'Brien, 155 — "Mike" Norton, 156 — Genet, 157 — the Albany lobbyists, 158 - 161 — Tweed in the Legislature, 161 — the city tax levy for 1869, 161 - 163 — struggle between the Ring and the Young Democracy on the city charter, 163 - 169 — immense corruption, 166 — Citizens' Association, how sold out to Ring by Nathaniel Sands, 169 - 171 — tone of press over adoption of charter, 171 — how effectually the charter put the government of the city in hands of Ring, 172 - 174.

Native Races, The, of the Pacific States, article on, 34 - 47 — unpromising condition and prospects of American literature, 34 — Mr. Hubert H. Bancroft's great work, its plan and equipment, 35 - 37 — sketches of the native races, — the Hyperborean group, Eskimos, 37 - 39 — their skill in house-making and boat-making. — Sir John Franklin's estimate, 38 — the Columbian group, — Nootkas, Chinooks, and Haidahs, their superstitions and customs, 39 - 41 — California tribes, very degraded, 41, 42 — torture by ants, 42 — "Bedouins of the West" in Arizona and New Mexico, 43 — the Indian policy we need, 43 — the Pueblo Indians, their semi-civilization, mode of life, and customs, 45 - 47 — encyclopedic character of Mr. Bancroft's work, 47.

Nichols, T. L., his Forty Years of American Life, critical notice of, 452–454.
Nordhoff, Charles, his The Communistic Societies of the United States, critical notice of, 226–229.
Palgrave, F. T., his Poems, critical notice of, 438–444.
Parkman, Francis, his The Old Régime in Canada, critical notice of, 175–179.
Pauperism, article on, 315–334 — Malthus's dictum, 315 — evil nature and effects of the old English Poor Law, 316–318 — why supported by W. E. Forster, 317 — Lord Houghton's statement, Prof. Fawcett's admission, 318 — good features of Poor-Law Amendment Act of 1834, 318 — grave defects, — not providing general education, and failing to ticket tramps, 319 — statistics of English pauperism, 320 — history of pauperism in France, 322–327 — its vast proportions in sixteenth and subsequent century, 322 — the "right to labor," adopted by revolutionary government of 1792, 324 — institutional charity, 325 — remarkable experiment of Herr von der Heydt at Elberfeld, 327 — facts and aspects of pauperism in United States, 329–331 — statistics of Mr. Sanborn, 331, 332 — relative advantages of out-door and in-door relief, 333 — influences and institutions that tend to diminish pauperism, 333, 334.
Province of Massachusetts Bay, By-Laws of the, critical notice of, 229–231.
Quincy, Josiah, his Life and Speeches, critical notice of, 235.
Slave Power in America, Rise and Fall of the, article on, 47–83 — power and security of slavery in 1840, 47–49 — character of a work that should fitly describe its nature, incidents, and fall, 49 — great value of Mr. Wilson's work, 50 — our fathers supposed slavery would soon die, 51 — the Missouri Compromise, 52 — organization of antislavery in 1830, 53 — meetings invaded by mobs, 53 — pungent interest of these meetings, 54 — labored defences of slavery, 55 — the conflict in Congress, 55–69 — petitions for abolition, 56 — stormy scene over petition presented by John Quincy Adams, 56–62 — great services of Mr. Adams to the antislavery cause, 62 — annexation of Texas, and the opposition to it, 62, 63 — triumphs of slavery, and consequent recruitment of the ranks of antislavery, 63–65 — political shrewdness and suicide of Southern leaders, 66 — Fugitive Slave Law, its enforcement and the effect thereof, 66–68 — Union-saving, 68 — "Uncle Tom's Cabin" 69 — the Nebraska Bill, 70 — steps in the political advance of slavery, 71 — the Kansas struggle, 72–74 — John Brown, 74 — champions of freedom in Congress, — Seward, Hale, Mann, Giddings, Chase, Wilson, Sumner, 74, 75 — the assault on Sumner, 76 — madness of slavery, 76–80 — eminent advocates and allies of antislavery, 80 — faults of antislavery men, 81 — moral of the conflict, 82 — only where free institutions exist has truth full power, 82 — conservative power of such institutions, 83.
Spenser, article on, 334–394 — a classic, 335 — Dante, 335 — Scottish poetry of fifteenth century better than English, 336 — Dunbar, 336 — Barbour's "Brus," 337 — nationality in literature, 338 — Gawain Douglas, 338 — first duty of the Muse to be delightful, 340 — Skelton, 340 — Sidney, 342 — Drayton, 344 — Daniel, 345 — Spenser's contribution to English style, 347 — his life, 348–357 — his good character, 357 — the "Shepherd's Calendar" made an epoch in literature. 358–364 — the "Muiopotmos," 365–373 — Bunyan's superiority to Spenser, 374 — Spenser's verse, 378 — his indebtedness to Dante, 381 — his costly style, 383 — his idealization of facts and sentiments, 384 — the "Epithalamion," 385 — the sweetest idealization love ever wrought, in the "Faery Queen," 387 — his fine sensuousness, 390–392 — the land of Spenser, the land of Dream and of Rest, 393 — unmixed delightfulness of the "Faery Queen," 394.
Spielhagen, F., his Ultimo, critical notice of, 196–200.
Tax Commissioners of Massachusetts, Reports of critical notice of, 477–484.
Taylor, Bayard, his The Prophet, critical notice of, 188–194.
United States, The Great Middle Region of the, and its limited Space of Arable Land, article on, 1–34 — popular ignorance respecting value and capabilities of country between Mississippi Valley and California, 1 — description of territory along 32d parallel, 2–4 — along 35th, 4–6 — along 39th, line of Kansas Pacific Railroad, 6–9 — along 41st, 9, 10 — along 45th and 46th, 10–14 — rainfall in this vast section, 15–17 — agriculture successful in certain localities, 17–19 — excellent grazing facilities, 19 — grim climatic character of the northern tropical belt, 20 — isothermal lines pushed three degrees too far north by Northern Pacific Railroad Co., 21 — very small proportion of land available for agriculture, 22–24 — misrepresentations by N. P. R. R. Co., 24–26 — means employed to mislead the public, 25 — fallacious arguments for building five lines of railroad to the Pacific, 27 — rainfall at Fort Buford for several years, 28 — Gen. Custer's statements based on the exceptionally fruitful summer of 1873, 29 — Gen. Sully's letter concerning the section through which N. P. R. R. passes, 29, 30 — other testimony, 31 — reliableness of the meteorological statistics secured by War Department, and their unfavorable tenor regarding the great middle section of the country, 32 — protest against scheme of N. P. R. R., 33, 34.

Von Holst, Dr. H., his Administration of Andrew Jackson, critical notice of, 179–185.
Wage-Fund Theory, The, article on, 84–119 — the doctrine of the wage-fund, 84 — stated by James Mill, J. R. McCulloch, J. S. Mill, Prof. Fawcett, C. Morrison, H. C. Carey, H. Vethake, and Prof. Perry, 86–88 — natural history of the doctrine, 88–93 — subsistence-fund not the wage-fund 90 — vital relation of Malthusianism to the wage-fund theory, 92 — literary history of the doctrine, 93–101 — important treatise by Francis D. Longe, 94 — his propositions, 95–97 — W. T. Thornton's treatise "On Labour," 97–99 — Mr. Mill's recantation of the wage-fund theory, 99 — Prof. Cairnes's conclusion, 101 — wages not paid out of capital, but out of the product of industry, 101–108 — individual profit the great reason for production, 102 — relation between production and consumption, 102–104, note — how far are wages actually advanced out of capital? 104–107 — payment of wages in New England, 105 — in Middle and Southern States, 106 — production not necessarily proportioned to capital, 107 — increase of population not always implies decrease of wages, 108–113 — Prof. Cairnes's error in treating of the relation of the supply of labor to the wage-fund, 114–116 — Prof. Vethake's, 116 — skill and character of laborers important elements in determining wages, 117 — reasons why the term "wage-fund" should be abandoned, 118, 119.
Whitney, W. D., his Oriental and Linguistic Studies, Second Series, critical notice of, 474–476.

Cambridge: Printed by Welch, Bigelow, & Co.